All the Clothes,

all at once, makes too much of a wash, perhaps. Use Pearline, and it's easy to do a few at a time. Lots of women do this. They take the napkins, towels, handkerchiefs, hose, etc., each day as they are cast aside.

Soak them in Pearline and water, boil them a few minutes, rinse out and there they are perfectly clean.

No bother, no rubbing. When the regular wash day comes, there isn't much left to do.

Why isn't this just as well as to keep everything and wash in one day?

Whig and Courier.

BY BOUTELLES BROTHERS.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle Brothers, and communications intended for publication should be addressed "Editor of Whig and Courier."

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1860.

The Portland Advertiser says Congressman Boutelle's tremendous majority in the fourth district appears to have taken the legislative ticket in its train and brought in a solid Republican delegation from Penobscot county.

The August New Age places the entire blame on the Plum Trust. Our Democratic friends have been far from a happy family for some time and now that the election is over the few survivors in the party are exchanging compliments in a very lively manner.

The Boston Journal says that unexpected 10,000 plurality looks as if Conservative Boutelle's untried and aggressive work in Washington and especially his sharp exposure of President Cleveland's ill-advised blunder, were warmly appreciated by the patriotic voters of Eastern Maine.

Complete unofficial returns of the State election give the following result:

Henry B. Chavis, (Rep.) 10,004
Charles P. Johnson, (Dem.) 16,640
Ira C. Hersey, (Pro.) 2,415
J. D. Hinman, (Rep.) 1,100
Independent, 48,424

In the same town voted as follows:

Henry B. Chavis, (Rep.) 6,7400
Charles P. Johnson, (Dem.) 5,397

J. B. Flessey, (Pro.) 338

I. C. Benjamin, (Rep.) 4,988

Independent, 12,504

Our Democratic friends in this and other States may read the handwriting on the wall. The people have had more than enough of Democracy.

Hon John B. Richman of Lawrence, came to Waldo county last week and made several speeches for the Democrats. He paid a visit to the stump and always aroused enthusiasm and inspired confidence when he addressed an audience. The Democrats of Waldo county will not soon forget him nor the valuable aid he rendered them — meat to meat.

The Republicans' plurality on the gubernatorial vote in Waldo increased from 15 in the last election to 160 and the public solicited every county officer on their ticket. It strikingly shows that the Republicans have more cause to remember the valuable services of the Unionists than the Democrats.

H. C. Owens and Brackridge can pride themselves on making encouraging yet still limited progress. It will not cost until the nominating convention is held on Saturday but it undoubtedly reached its culmination in a monster turnout, which took place of Paris the capital of Bourdon county. This demonstration was at least double from 20,000 to 20,000 people, and contrasted strikingly with the insignificant gathering which Brackridge has been compelled to face outside of Ellington. Mr. Owens is confident of defeating the unscrupulous bidder for nomination and is likely to clinch it all at once.

Some of the Democratic newspapers are pleading that the Vermont and Maine lands really come to nothing for the Rep. for the control of Congress and doing nothing to fit a Rep. to strength, one of much of their Congressional delegations are already solidly Republican. True, but if our contemporaries will only look beyond their noses they can comprehend that a shump in the Democratic and gain in the Republican vote in other Northern States even approximate to as large as that which Vermont and Maine have witnessed would carry enough weight and doubtful districts to give the Rep. party the control of the House of Representatives by the biggest majority it has had there for 20 years.

The Federalists are not only a large number of Democratic voters in this State not voting at all, but also a large number though a less one of Democrats voting the Republican ticket. It must be remembered that the election two years ago was a Presidential year, when there is always a tremendous effort to get out the full vote, and to give us a large majority as possible for our candidates in elections in other States. It is to follow. Two years ago the Rep. majority in this state was a little below 8,000 and it probably represented very nearly the Republican strength at that time. Assuming that it had remained the same this year with the comparatively small efforts to get out the voters there would inevitably have been a diminution of the vote and instead of 8,000 we should probably have but 6,000. So 2,000 less than the Republican vote has actually dropped in an election succeeding a Presidential election. 10,000 or 12,000 has been nearer the customary loss. It is safe to assume that the vote this year had there not been necessary from the Democrats would not have exceeded 60,000. It is in fact 72,000, so that this excess of 12,000 can be credited to men who two years ago voted the Democratic ticket.

Significant Facts.

Since the landslide in Maine the experiments in political figures at campaign headquarters in Washington have been using their pencils, and according to the correspondence of the Boston Journal the results which they announce are as astonishing as ever this year. In February Pennsylvania chose a Congressman-at-large to fill a vacancy in the present Congress, in April Rhode Island elected three officers. In June Oregon elected a Governor and two members of the next Congress, and in September Vermont chose State officers and two members of the next Congress, and Maine State officers and four members of the next Congress. In all eight members of the next Congress are now chosen, all of whom are Republicans.

The vote of these States is as follows:

States Rep. Dem. Pop. Pro.

Pennsylvania 452,200 270,000 6,027 11,182

Vermon... 41,609 17,498 21,033 2,703

Vermont 45,538 14,609 3,615 405

Maine, estimate 55,000 35,000 5,000 1,000

Total 75,125 45,624 6,473 18,000

These are all regular off year elections with the exception of Pennsylvania, in which the election was a special one to fill a vacancy. This, however, does not make it any the less an indicator of public opinion.

The Republicans have lost this year in the five states that have held elections, only 6,022 smaller than they cast for President two years ago; one of the most remarkable showings in the political record of this country, while the Democratic poll in the same states is 185,154 smaller this year than in 1860. The Republicans falling off is, I consider, as to be hardly surprising, noticing, while the Democratic falling off is 38 per cent., or one-third.

In these six states the total Republican plurality in 1860 was 123,706. This year the Republican plurality is the same as 1860, 123,308. It is evident that the most pronounced reversals in the political opinions of the voters have taken place in this country since 1860 than history records.

Eastern Maine's Greeting to Governor Cleaves.

The Portland Press of Thursday prints the following congratulatory message from Congressman Boutelle to our honored Chief Magistrate:

BANGOR, Sept. 12.
To Governor Cleaves, Portland.

Penobscot county by more than forty hundred plurality, and the Fourth District by over ten thousand, expressed confidence in your resolution to recognize and promote the interests of every section of the State.

C. A. BOUTELLE.

The Hawaiian Infamy Rebuked.

New York Sun, Sept. 12.

Representative Boutelle, of Maine, who was foremost in the betrayal of Hawaii, receives his reward in the largest Republican majority ever cast in this district. His victory is the vindication of American patriotism.

Democrats Read the Lesson of Maine.

New York Sun, Sept. 12.

The State election there on Monday was a more sensational demonstration than the national election of 1860. It was more unusual in its character and more revolutionary in its indications. It shows a feeling on the part of Republicans in one of the oldest States of the Union that there exists a reason for an extraordinary protest against the policies ruling at Washington, and on the part of the Democrats a humiliating confession that they cannot say no to it. It foreshadows a general spread of this malignant disease at the achievements of a second term of the administration.

Democrats a humiliating confession that they know no law but itself, and that is not warned by a single spark of American Democracy, then the outlook for the party now burdened with it is indeed grave.

(New York World, Sept. 12.)

It is the world's habit to deal with election returns on the basis of hard and fast, metallic and cold facts, whatever may be their nature or significance. The truth to regard to Maine is that the Republicans have won an unprecedented victory.

It surpasses Republican expectations and far exceeds Democratic fears.

Then they did not do so much by increasing their own vote—they have polling more in former elections—as by the failure of Democrats to go to the polls notwithstanding the fact of greater turnout. The Party do not stay at home on election day without a reason and a purpose.

The Mainers refrained from voting in great numbers because they are probably dissatisfied with the administration of George W. McCrary.

The long delay in getting over the bill to the serious injury of business and the final enforced surrender to the sugar ring and the iron and coal combines caused a reversal of feeling on the only right and important basis.

There is a warning in this revolt, following the somewhat similar one in Vermont for the Democrats of all other sections of the country, and those of New York. There is a lesson learned for dissatisfaction here than in Maine.

On the Democratic side joined the strike against the Wilson bill and the other with some of the Representatives of all other sections of the country.

There is immediate danger of several incidents in the State administration for the past three years.

Widespread corruption and systematic blackmail in one department of the city government have been exposed.

Blackmail, in another, is undenied.

Nothing, we are told, exists in either or the other to sustain it.

An unpromising situation is not to be better by shutting the eyes to it. The Democrats of New York, New York, will not dispense a ray of light on the true courage and honesty and high devotion to principle if it would avoid a disaster of which Maine gives timely warning.
